We've heard some disturbing reports out of Canada and the U.S. recently that shouldn't be viewed in a vacuum. A trend is developing.

(Article republished from LeoHohmann.Substack.com)

Last Friday, March 15, Rebel News reporter David Menzies was arrested while trying to interview attendees at a Pro-Hamas rally in Toronto.

According to Rebel News, the arrest came just days after the announcement of David's lawsuit against the Royal Canadian Mounted Police "for a pattern of intimidation and exclusion following shocking displays of police brutality against David."

Rebel News reports that what transpired was a blatant disregard for civil liberties.

David was in full compliance with the law, Rebel News reported, noting that he presented his identification upon request. All of this was captured on camera.

Yet, he was arrested and detained for exercising his right to document a public event.

In the U.S., we have also seen reporters hauled off to jail recently for simply covering events that the government didn't want covered. Just two weeks ago the FBI arrested Steve Baker, a reporter for Blaze Media, for his coverage of the J6 event. Last year, the FBI arrested journalist Owen Shroyer of Infowars and he was convicted and sentenced to 60 days in prison for his coverage of J6 (he did not even enter the Capitol that day). NBC News, a key part of the state-run media in America, dutifully reported upon Shroyer's conviction that he was not a journalist but a "conspiracy theorist."

For more than five years now, journalists and citizen journalists alike have seen Big Tech censor and bury their work behind unfavorable algorithms. Some have even been banned or suspended from social media platforms.

But now the globalists are taking their war against the truth to a new level. They are going for the kill shots by having journalists and citizen truth-tellers actually arrested and removed from society altogether.

Globalist politicians and judges are colluding with big corporations throughout the formerly free Western world to remove certain bedrock rights and God-given freedoms and replace them with government-issued privileges. They will tell you that you still have a right to free speech and freedom of the press, until you do what journalists have always done in the past and challenge the government narrative. If you do this, you lose your status and free-speech protections as a journalist and the government rebrands you as a conspiracy theorist, making you vulnerable to arrest.

In short, real journalists, people who question the facts and narratives provided by those in positions of power and authority, are being banned.

This movement against real journalism is coming down from the United Nations and World Economic Forum, both of which have made the elimination of what they call "disinformation" a top priority for 2024 and beyond.
